

Drawing & Wayfaring

with Jane Waterhouse

Saturday 24th of October
Ashlyn Woods
11.00am - 4.00pm

Join us for a day of drawing and conemplation in the woods.

“What intrigues is how the act of drawing lays down a memory that can be activated years down the line - a drawing made at age 10 of a beech twig might resonate when I come across a beech tree aged 60.

We will be gathering & recording, plotting & noticing, exchanging information, be it latin names of plants, folklore, embedded histories, colours, resonances as we go/ set off/ wayfaring around the land.”

Bring drawing materials, a sense of curiosity, a sense of wonder and some quiet.

A simple lunch will be provided.
